for the very finest outlooks to view the seaways that they guard. We have had quite a few on the cover over the years because, as creatures of the coast, we seek out the seacoast at its finest. Most lighthouses are built along so similar a line that they seem to have been constructed from the same classic plan. The one on this cover is a bit different, set apart from the rest like the land it stands upon. This is the light on the height of Monhegan Island about nine miles off the coast of Maine. If you plan to visit this lighthouse you have to be determined to do so because it is off the beaten track. In the summer, at least, Monhegan can be reached by ferry from Port Clyde, by fishing boat from New Harbor and from Boothbay Harbor, to name 3 points of contact. Monhegan, like Maine itself, is a great rock. It rises out of the sea like the hump of a gigantic whale and a cleft in its anatomy forms a harbor which is probably most fortunate for its inhabitants. In the summer, the island is about as scenic as you can find. Wildflowers grow in great masses everywhere and because the visitor climbs straight up from the dock the view is immediately wonderful. The lighthouse is reached on foot because it is at the very peak of the island, and pedestrian traffic is the only traffic on the 4 foot wide paths that wind upward to this point. True, there is a jeep or two, but these vehicles are the island's beasts of burden to carry household and fishing gear that is too heavy for lugging. We include some views from the top to show not only the spectacular sweep of the sea but also the cluster of hotels and homes of the Monhegan islanders. Two or three gigantic wooden hotels are the surprise for the visitor to this land. They must be holdovers from the era of the early 1900's when people returned each summer to a favorite resort. The counterparts of these huge wooden structures dot the white mountains of New Hampshire. On Monhegan, though, what an undertaking to build such huge hotels. The homes are clustered along the traffic, pollution, electric lights and central heating. The lighthouse at Monhegan stands astride a special breed of people with a self-reliance that is strange to most of their contemporaries, so dependent on conveniences that have become necessities.

It may be only nine miles out to Monhegan but for most it would be a step on the time machine, back to a distant era. These people march to a different drum. They are under a granite guardian, have granite underfoot and imbedded in their very character.

Selectmen's Meeting

BEACH PLAN STUDY DESIRED

Ralph Eustis introduced Selectmen to Julie Magazini who is involved in the Community Assistance Program of Harvard University. Miss Magazini said that she is a graduate of Yale University and is an urban planner and is now studying at Harvard as a graduate student involved in design and landscape work. As part of the work study program, she is available to communities to study a selected area and prepare a rough plan to improve and utilize it to its full potential. She said the projects number 170 from a lifeguard station to waterfront redevelopment in New York City.

Mr. Eustis said that when he initially received the offer from Harvard he thought of the park at Ned's Point and mentioned this to Ms. Magazini. She had received approval of the study of that area from Harvard.

The Selectmen were unanimous in agreement that Ned's Point should not be improved. They said that the area has been kept in a natural state and they preferred to leave it as it is. They also agreed that the town has need of such services in other areas such as the wharf and the undeveloped beach section reached by Reservation Road. Selectman James Huntoon sees this beach area as an excellent project so that townspeople can enjoy the beach there in greater numbers. He suggested that parking is needed and other facilities. Both Selectmen Frank Suzan and John DeCosta agreed that this beach area from Goodspeed Island to Reservation Road is an important step toward providing more recreational area to a growing town.

Ms. Magazini said that she had already received approval of the Ned's Point project but would have to submit the beach to the Project Director of Harvard. She said that the costs would be for mileage, telephone, film, photocopies and for the final report. She estimated that 8 trips would be necessary and that a sum of about $500. would fund the project excluding the copies of her report. Mr. Huntoon said that even if the cost were $1000 he would be in favor as it would be of such future benefit to the town. The Selectmen approved a motion to retain the services of the Community Assistance Program to plan improvement of the beach area off Reservation Road.

MET CANDIDATE

Mr. John C. Bradford, Republican candidate for Representative, met with Selectmen to introduce himself and to inform them of his position on various concerns of the area. He assured the Selectmen that he intended to keep in close touch with town officials and that he thought legislative reform and environmental issues are of primary concerns as is tax reduction.

The Selectmen discussed Mr. Bradford's views in detail and thanked him for presenting them. Selectman Huntoon remarked that Bradford was the first candidate to come in and talk about local issues with the Board of Selectmen.

CAROL ADAMS REAPPOINTED

Selectmen voted to renew the Executive Secretary's contract with Carol Adams with a $400. increase in salary. They voted to transfer $400. from the Reserve Fund for this purpose.

LIEN REQUIREMENT

Selectmen asked that homeowners who are hooked up to the sewer system be informed that the town, as part of the agreement to obtain federal funds, was required to place a lien against all the property being hooked up. Homeowners who immediately paid had the lien removed. However, homeowners who pay the cost over a longer term will still have the lien against their property

YOU CAN STILL EARN

WITH NO CURRENT TAX

The return on All-Savers, CDs and other Money Market investments has fallen dramatically. There's every indication that efforts to force the decline will continue. What's a long-term saver to do?

You can continue to roll over your funds at the new lower rates, paying taxes on CDs and money market interest income as you go, or do what so many have done and take advantage of the benefits of other investments.

Many astute investors are turning to compound interest bonds, a proprietary product developed by Kidder, Peabody and Citibank, N.A. These unique bonds provide compounding of interest income on a tax-free basis so that a $10,000 investment in 1982 at 11% provides over $36,000 in 1994. And like other quality bonds, these are guaranteed by the issuer.

Investors are also examining the Kidder, Peabody special list of utility stocks. These selected issues provide return of capital as a percentage of tax-free dividend income while providing the owner with a capital gain opportunity should interest rates decline further.

Other investors are choosing Unit Trusts, carefully picked portfolios of high-quality, investment-grade municipal bonds. Unit Trusts provide one of the easiest ways to reap the benefits of high tax-free interest, monthly income and with a minimum investment as low as $1000.

Looking to reinvest funds? Contact your nearest Kidder, Peabody office for their solution to your need.

Mattapoisett Seniors

The next meeting of Mattapoisett Seniors is tomorrow, Thursday, October 14, at St. Anthony's Church. You may come, if you wish, at the usual time--1:30 p.m.-- but our meeting will not start until 2:00, as our speaker cannot be with us until 2:30. Dues are now payable, and try to remember to bring your membership card so that our treasurer can note on it your current payment.

Our speaker will be Peter J. Quail, a clinical hypnotist (I believe his official degree designation is CRNA-NA). Besides his private practice, he also works at St. Luke's Hospital. His subject will be "Modern Medical Hypnosis and Pain Control", and we believe that we have a great deal to learn about this relatively new field of medicine.

Light refreshments will be served after the meeting, and all interested persons are invited to attend.

brilliantly executed plan of the Communist Russian KGB, we urge that you do so. So much is at stake, so cleverly has the yearning for peace been used as a tool for conquest that it is imperative that people inform themselves so they may vote completely informed.

Even the Senator from Massachusetts, Edward Kennedy, who fancies himself as presidential material, has been enlisted under the KGB's magical plan. If a Senator, who has access to material and information that is not available to the average citizen, can be so taken in, how can anyone make the proper decision on the Nuclear Freeze? Mid 1700s in Mattapoisett

NOTES FROM MATTAPOISETT HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Has it ever occurred to you to wonder what life was really like in the mid 1700's in Mattapoisett?

From the chronicles of Abraham Holmes of Rochester published in the Massachusetts Historical Collections come some answers: "There was not a wagon of any kind in town. There was ox-carts and horse-carts and add to these two old riding-chairs. Such a modern thing as a chaise was never heard of.

"The horses were generally poor creatures. In the summer they lived on grass, in the winter on hay only, except when they were going on a journey, then on the evening before they would have a mess of bran wet. It was a highly priced horse that was valued at $40. A horse more than nine years old was considered of little value.

"There was no such thing as a clock in town. There were three ministers in Rochester, and each had a watch. It is believed there were no others in town.

"An umbrella or parasol would have made a wonderment. Very few gloves were worn

Children's Museum

FIELD WALK

The Children's Museum will be offering a field walk on "GRASSES AND WILDFLOWERS" of Gulf Hill on Saturday, October 16th, at 10:00 a.m. The sweeping meadows of the Gulf Hill site offer a splendid variety of grasses, beginning with the lowland freshwater marsh grasses to the waving upland fields. Wildflowers abound, obviously finding the habitat much to their liking. Their similarities sometimes tease or challenge the expert and amateurs when searching for identification, but their varieties add color and subtle accents to autumn's brilliant pageantry. Please join us for this morning walk. All ages are welcome. The walk starts at 10:00 a.m. at the Gulf Hill site and is free.

SATURDAY PROGRAM

Children four and up who have registered in advance are welcome to attend a Halloween Crafts program at the Children's Museum's Gulf Hill site on Saturday, October 16th.

Scary Halloween decorations to be hung in a window for the big day will be the subject of the Saturday program which starts at 2:00 p.m. To register please call 993-3361; there is a small charge for non-members.

Daniel is the son of Dr. and Mrs. John McGonigle of Alderberry Lane, and Elise is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Bilodeau of Prospect Road.

A spokesman for National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the Merit Program, stated, "To rank among the top 50,000 performers in a competition that includes over one million participants is an outstanding attainment, deserving of public recognition. We sincerely hope that the academically able young men and women who are commended in the Merit Program will diligently pursue their higher education opportunities and career goals. The nation will benefit by the full development of their talents."

The students being commended this month, who are now beginning their final year of high school, entered the 1983 Merit Scholarship competition by taking the qualifying test in 1981. Commended participants scored high, but slightly below students in their respective states who qualified as

Based on research for the highly-acclaimed traveling exhibition organized by Brown University, the Rhode Island Historical Society and the Museum of Art at the Rhode Island School of Design, the program presented by Mr. Monkhouse will trace the evolution of architectural rendering from its rudimentary beginnings in colonial Newport through the Greek revival of the 1820's and the full-flowering of mid-19th century architecture.

The work of Russell Warren, James Bucklin, Richard Upjohn and Richard Morris Hunt will be described.

moved to Virginia to seek additional inspiration. Cosmology has one album to their credit with another one in the works. They write, arrange and produce their own compositions.

Dawn Thompson is the vocalist as well as a song-writer, percussionist and guitarist. She has composed and performed music for New York City's Children's Dance Theatre, and has served on the Board of Directors for many years. Robert Jospe, the drummer of the group, is not new to New Bedford. His father, Maurice Jospe, owns the Candleworks Restaurant in the historic downtown district, and Cosmology has appeared there on several occasions. Along with his drumming skills, Robert's talents are proven in his ease with percussions, marimbas, bass piano and composition. After studying at New York University, he received a National Endowment for the Arts grant to study bass and composition. John D'Earth plays a clear tones jazz trumpet as well as a variety of wind instruments. He studied privately at Harvard University, and has performed and recorded with Buddy Rich, Lionel Hampton, Mel Torme and Bob Moses. John has taught trumpet and theory for 3 years at the East Harlem School of Music and has given seminars in jazz history and appreciation. He, too, is the recipient of a National Endowment for the Arts award specializing in composition and performance. Dawn, Robert and John form the core of Cosmology, having been together since its genesis seven years ago. They are now complemented by two new members. Wayne Pedzwater, bassist, has toured with Buddy Rich, participated in a world-wide tour with Blood, Sweat and Tears, and is currently at work on a solo project. Steve Gaboury has established his ability on both the acoustic and electric piano. Steve attended San Francisco State University and be issued for each patient. Someone wishing to visit a patient who already has two visitors will have to wait until one of the visitors returns his or her pass.

The new visiting regulations make provisions for children under 14 to visit friends or family members who are patients at St. Luke's Hospital. When accompanied by a responsible adult, children are allowed on Sundays between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m.

The new visiting policy was devised after an exhaustive one-year task force investigation and analysis of visiting problems and specifically their effect on patient care. Visitor Control Task Force Chairperson and Associate Director of General Services John B. Day said: "Our primary concern in establishing this new visiting policy is our patients; to insure that they have ample time for rest, leisurely meals and uninterrupted medical attention."

The task force, a multi-disciplinary team of hospital staff representing Nursing, Unit Management, Security, Administration, Communications and Public Relations, looked carefully into many avenues of visitor control which would not place hardships on the visiting public nor be costly to implement. "The task force believes that the new policy will be of great assistance in resolving many of the visitor control problems," noted Day, "but we also recognize that the public must take an active part by complying with the rules because they are in the best interest of all

Q. What exactly is wheel balancing?

A. Wheel balancing is the proper distribution of weight around a tire and wheel assembly in order to counteract centrifugal forces acting on the heavy areas when the wheel is turning. There are two kinds of wheel balancing. Static and dynamic. Static imbalance can be detected when the wheel is still. Dynamic imbalance is evident only when the wheel is spinning.

When your tires have a static imbalance the effect may be felt as a "tramp" or "bounce." Dynamic imbalance may cause a "shimmy" or a side-to-side shake of the wheel. If you feel any kind of vibration, you should have your vehicle inspected by a competent mechanic to determine the cause.

Savings Questions

BANK CUSTOMERS WANT SECURITY AND A BETTER RETURN

Under a fairly visible layer of confusion about the many new Savings Certificates of Deposit (CD's) - their varying rates and how those rates are determined - customers are looking for two things: security and a better return on their savings, said Richard H. Carpenter, President of Fairhaven Savings Bank, when he spoke to members of the Fairhaven Rotary Club September 28 at the Skipper Inn.

On the lending side, customers are looking for lower interest rates and larger amounts of money as inflation dramatically affected the cost of housing and automobiles for instance. The savings bank industry is trying to address the needs of both the saver and the borrower in keeping with its commitment of service to the community.

Briefly, the questions to ask when choosing a savings account (CD or Passbook) are: How much? For how long? Are the funds insured? Can they be used as collateral? What are the penalties for early withdrawal?

Depending on answers to those questions, a customer today can earn Treasury Bill rates on short-term accounts (7 days to 6 months); or, may choose to be locked in at a guaranteed rate for a longer period (2 1/2 years). In its response to consumer needs, the savings industry has extended itself to supply the particular "product" that suits most customers' requirements.

Mortgages used to be a pretty cut-and-dried arrangement between buyer, seller, their realtors and lawyers with a routine "closing" at the bank. Today you hear a great deal about "creative" mortgages, variable rates, reviewable mortgages and the payment of "points". No one plan is "best" for everybody. A "fixed rate" mortgage, even at a higher rate, may better suit the buyer who wants to know and budget exactly what his costs are going to be. Others may feel more secure in anticipating rates will come down and would rather have their mortgage "reviewed" at the end of a year or two or three. Adjustments of a rate based on current economic realities, of course, may go up as well as down.

In any event, the savings bank - in their own primary lending areas - are in the best position to assess the overall situation and are committed to serving their customers with their knowledge and assistance. Customers are advised to study their own financial needs and to "shop around" for the best arrangement.

Fairhaven Savings is celebrating its 150th year of service to the community this year. Its Center Street office is located on the site used for its first building in 1832.

Protect the public not the criminals....

He's been the people's judge. His concern is for the victim and the victim's family. If you're guilty, he's not the judge to go before.
Quincy Sun March 11 1982

Superior Court Judge Henry H. Chmielinski has been called many things by prison inmates—most of them unprintable. He's been called "The Hanging Judge" and "Hammerin' Hank."
The Patriot Ledger May 23 1979

Chris Look, the Sheriff ... on Martha's Vineyard ... says, "a lot of drug pushers there are leaving as fast as they can get off the island, and I can understand why. Henry Chmielinski is one of those Superior Court judges who hangs tough up there on the bench.
Boston Herald American, October 8 1975

... He's tough as nails and Judge Henry H. Chmielinski ... can unleash a tongue lashing as harsh as his sentences. A typical was his sentencing of three men to long jail terms. "They're parasites ... They rob drunken people, older people ... and make the streets unsafe for all of us ... The only four-letter word they don't know is work."
Boston Herald American, February 3 1980

His sword of justice is sharp, indeed, on hardened violent criminals, but it is also double-edged ... Boston attorney Thomas C. Troy describes Chmielinski as "an old-school judge with both a sandpaper and a velvet hand. He can play hardball, but he also plays fair. He's human."
The Boston Globe, October 16 1981
